A PERSONAL LOSS

The tragic death of Will Rogers is a personal loss to every man woman and child in the United States. He filled a niche in our national life that no other can fill. We will miss his words of wisdom the philosophy of the common man he preached in his writings and practiced in his private life.

KINDLY HUMOR

His humor was keen, pointed and pungent, but the barbs of wit were never tipped with venom. The desire of his big, kindly soul was to help, and not to hurt. He knew humanity under its skin, but his plateness with its frailties showed his deep understanding of the weaknesses of the flesh. Many a "stuffed shirt" had the air let out of his pomposity with that facile pen which daily wrote its way into the hearts and lives of Americans and the whole world. Paradoxical as it may seem even those who were so cleverly deflated, bore no malice but grinned and took it. Over the course of his useful and cheering spreading years presidents, emperors and kings, congresses and parliaments were "cut down to size," without any rancor finding lodgment in the hearts of those whose pretensions he exposed.

WILL MISS HIM

We will all miss him, his home-tree that radiated love and affection for his fellow man; we will miss his words of counsel and advice cloaked in language that conveyed his thought and message to one and all. He wrote and spoke and lived a universal language that all peoples and all tongues understood, and that was why he was such a popular idol.

It was Rogers' interest in aviation, an interest he manifested in the pioneering days of air flight, and maintained during the progress made during the intervening years, that really was the cause of his death. His writings on air travel were largely responsible for the popularization of that mode of transportation. His last trip was taken in company with Wiley Post, another brave soul without fear who contributed with his epoch flights much to the industry and brought the entire world in close relationships. He, too, was a picturesquely dalmatian figure and his passing will be a distinct loss.

The Standard Oil has adopted a pension system for its employees under which local workers will receive a living wage after retirement. Fear has been expressed that the new governmental pension plan which provides for not more than $15 a month will conflict with the Standard Oil plan and may prevent it from being carried out. Under the governmental idea, each industry will be taxed on its payroll and each employee will be forced to contribute a certain amount of his yearly pay-check.

It is feared that under the Federal plan, the Standard Oil may be taxed a sum in addition to that which it now sets aside each year to pension its workers.

Reports were also heard by the association on the credit plan which was recently adopted for the return of the county planning commission, had been named to represent Contra Costa at a meeting of seven counties with the intent to form a regional planning commission.

Representatives of Contra Costa, Marin, Alameda, San Francisco, Santa Clara and Santa Cruz have received invitations from San Mateo county to meet together later this month.

Loveridge On Planning Board

MARTINEZ, Aug. 16.—Orville Loveridge, director of the Contra Costa county social service department and a member of the county planning commission, had been named to represent Contra Costa at a meeting of seven counties with the intent to form a regional planning commission.

Representatives of Contra Costa, Marin, Alameda, San Francisco, Santa Clara and Santa Cruz have received invitations from San Mateo county to meet together later this month.

The appointment was made by City Engineer O. K. Smith, president of the planning commission, who was authorized by Chairman W. J. Buchanan of the board of supervisors to name a representative.

Carl Richards, director of the orchestra, acted as chairman of the evening.

Richmond Pyramid of Scots last evening held an open house for a large crowd of visitors at the Richmond clubhouse. At that time the SFERA orchestra and entertainers presented an interesting and entertaining two-hour program.

Carl Richards, director of the orchestra, acted as chairman of the evening.

A short business meeting was held by the Lodge with Toporch Allen J. Cundy presiding.

On August 23 the Lodge will visit Berkeley at which time Supreme Pharaoh Harry Puleifer will pay his official visit.

Scribe's night will be held September 6 at the clubhouse with Scribe Harry Chapman in charge. A program will be staged by the Olympic Club of San Francisco. Masons, their wives and friends are invited.

On September 15 the Scots will hold their barbecue at East Shore Park. Dr. George Bochner is chairman of the affair. There will be a baseball game, sports and a barbecue. A large crowd is expected to attend.

Speaking of Sports

NOW YORK, Aug. 16.—UP— Max Baer is an earnest and well-behaved young man when his mama and papa are about. That's why Ancill, Baer's manager, is urging them from California to be at his training camp during his preparations for his heavyweight match with Joe Louis.

Hoffman has finally admitted that he can't handle the carefree Baer in the training camp when other people get around. While training at Long Beach, N. J., for what proved to be a tragic-comic defense of his heavyweight title against James J. Braddock, Baer always depended on Hoffman.

"I don't like to do anything I told you to avoid," Hoffman told "I've known him and out just what changes were in and keep telling him to try his right to the head on my training partners."

BAER NEEDS TO PRACTICE HAND
Hoffman went to do that. "I'm not going to do that," Baer replied. "I might as well sit up and wait to have it bitten the next time I want to give a chance to head."

"Well, that's what I want to find out if your hand can stand a blow to the head," answered Hoffman. "If it can, we have no business going into the ring as 's troubadour.' We'll see the fight prepared until your hands get it over. Now, go out there and show me that you're all right to okay for a return to the ring."

Braddock wouldn't follow Hoffman's lead and never took one hit to the head during his sparring sessions.

OPPOSED TRAINING SITE
At Asbury Park training camp, Artie Neff and Art Hoffmann bet on Hoffman.

"I didn't think Max would get away with it," said Hoffman. "But I am inclined to my better judgment, so I am going to take him; some people won't be hanging him and him all the time and there won't be anything to take his mind off training, and as a precautionary measure I'm going to have him and another there to keep him from it."

An evidence of his good faith was an affidavit of his willingness to stand by Neff, an out-of-state hamlet which Turvey discovered as a training site or any other place Hoffman chose.

TAKES HAND TREATMENT
In the Bradock fiasco, Baer suddenly got terrible pains in his hands and feet, and he had to stop to ease them. He was seen in leather wood, rowing and stretching his hands by squeezing rubber balls.

There's no question about Pacelli's big fish, his punching power or his ability to take it. He has been some pretty fair punchers, King Levinsky and Paulino Uzadua being their Sunday punches of the week and lauded at 'em.

Baer can fight as good as he wants or as bad as he likes. There's every reason for him to want to fight the best against the Detroit Negro. If he gets into shape, he will be a far different opponent for Baer than the fat-striken King Levinsky or the gas-clamped and totally unequipped Primo Carnera.

*Show-Down On War Threats
Is Demanded*

PATRIOTIC, Aug. 16.—UP— France and Britain today called for a show-down on Italy's threat to attack Egypt.

Delegates to the tri-power conference agreed yesterday to submit the Italian's independence to a final session in the historic clock tower at the Foreign Office in a final desperate effort to avert war.

They met with their experts after French Premier Pierre Laval and British Secretary for War Sir Anthony Eden re-acted that Baron Pompeo Alstot, chief Italian delegate, state demands.

Allen is willing to accept as the price for a settlement.

Allen telephoned to Mussolini, explaining Franco-British intentions.

Their intended conference came

J.G. ROSANO KILLS SELF IN HIS HOME

According to El Cerrito police who investigated the shooting, Rosano had been moody and despondent for many days. He did not go to work yesterday and refused to eat luncheon with his wife and daughter-in-law.

Later in the afternoon Mrs. Rosano left on a shopping trip, leaving her husband alone. When she returned she discovered the tragedy.

POLICE NOTIFIED

Police were notified. Police Chief R. R. Cheek and Officer Floyd M. Gilbert of the police department and several El Cerrito firemen went to the scene. Deputy Coroner W. P. Drumrey was summoned.

The body has been removed to the Wilson & Kratzer chapel. Funeral services and an inquest are pending.

LEAVES CHILDREN

Deceased leaves his widow; a daughter, Miss Marguerite, of Fort Wayne; two sons, John George and Antonio Joseph, both of El Cerrito; and a brother, Joseph, who resides next door.

He was a member of the Guardia Christopher Columbus, of Oakland.

Townsend Plan Is Approved By Oregon Labor

PORLAND, Ore., Aug. 15—UP. The 33rd convention of the Oregon State Federation of Labor today voted approval of the Townsend plan principle of paying each aged person $200 a month, but rejected the Townsend scheme to collect pension funds by a transaction tax.

The convention approved a pension of $200 a month if possible, financed through a system of graduated income and inheritance taxes.

This action virtually repudiated the McGarvey measure awaiting Congress' action. That bill provides a 2 per cent tax on all business transactions, which, the convention held, is in reality a sales tax which "would place the revenue-raising burden of the nation on the backs of those least able to bear it."

Democrats Will Attend Conclave

All Democratic clubs of Richmond will attend a mass meeting to be held on the night of August 22, in the theatre of the Oakland Civic Auditorium. Prominent leaders from all sections of the state have been invited. They include George Great, Maurice Harrison, State Senator Culbert Olson, John Lewis, Frank Lutke and Sheridan Downey. This meeting is under the auspices of the Young Democrats of Alameda county.

E. C. SULLIVANBERGER, principal of the Roosevelt junior high school and Mrs. Shallenberger are home from a visit to Cazadero.

Individual gains ran to more than two points with many new highs in both the industrial and utility sections.

Meanwhile the commodity situation improved. Predictions by Southern Senators that a 12 cent loan rate would be established shortly brought hasty buying of cotton futures. Silk futures continued their ascent, a sturdy demand the demand, Japanese short cotton rising when it was last sold. The market was given a cracked vertebrae which he wants to have treated.

Mosquito Is Most Dangerous of House Pests
for Carrying Disease

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

OF ALL the insects that infest our camps and houses the mosquito probably takes the cake as a carrier of disease from one person to another. The fly carries many infections and is the cause of great deal of sickness and death, but the mosquito is probably worse. Most of the diseases carried by the mosquito are tropical, and it is estimated that more than one-fourth of the diseases of the tropics are transferred by the mosquito.

The most common disease due to the mosquito are malaria, yellow fever, dengue, and filariasis. These diseases are sometimes so common that many regions in the tropics have been depopulated by them. As in many other of the parasites, the female is the one who does the dirty work, as the male is not able to bite through the human skin and must live on soft fruits. He cannot stand the cold and dies with the first frost.

Not so the female. In some form, she can live through severe winter weather and in cold water. She lays her eggs on water, wet mud, leaves, and leaf mold. The egg hatches into the pupa, and develops in the pupal stage which lasts from five to twelve days. During the pupal stage it feeds constantly on small organisms in the water, and its rapid movements give it the common name of "wiggle tail."

Uses Shell as Raft

As the time comes for it to change into a mosquito, it rises to the surface of the water, breaks out of its shell which it uses as a raft to float on its parents' devotion. If the raft is upset the mosquito is drowned.

It has many natural enemies and would soon become extinct if it did not breed so prolifically. Parasitic worms destroy it in the pupal stage. Goldfish, silverfish, and topfish feed on him enthusiastically. Water beetles and dragon flies attack him from all sides after he becomes a mosquito. Birds, bats, spiders, and many other enemies chase him at all times.

Most mosquitoes feed only after sunset and before daybreak, but some will feed at any time, and certain yellow fever mosquitoes feed in the day time. Whether in the egg, larva, or adult stage the mosquito can survive the coldest winter weather and is ready to start to work as soon as the ice leaves the surface of the water.

We cannot fly far, but he takes advantage of any and all modes of transportation. He sails on the wings of the wind and cannot stand against a breeze. If the wind blows, mosquitoes will not bother you.

He travels in ships, in airplanes, automobiles, or by any other method that is convenient. Only by understanding his habits can we hope to rid our homes and gardens of this pest. The larva must come to the top of the water to hatch into a mosquito. The water must be still. Our whole, sole methods of destruction are to drain all swamps, ponds, and cesspools, cover all cisterns, and water troughs. Keep stagnant water from accumulating anywhere.

The Possible Sources

A clogged rainspout, an old tin can, or water bottle, fire buckets, flower vases, even the water cup of the farmer's grindstone, and your backyard pool can be the source of millions of mosquitoes. Thick, damp underbrush and weeds are often their favorite haunts.

Your fish pond can be kept clear if it contains a number of goldfish and top minnows, and large-leaved water lilies are not allowed to grow. Covering the surface of pools and ponds with a layer of coal oil prevents their reaching the surface of the water and they drown. Use an ounce of coal oil to fifteen square feet of surface and repeat it ten times.

Poisonous powders may be dusted over the surface. Ten percent of Paris green mixed with dust of powdered soap stone is sprinkled by hand and on a large scale by airplanes.

Persian insect powder burned slowly in the rooms of your house kills the mosquitoes, but is very unpleasant for humans. After you have used all methods to destroy them, you can obtain some protection from the bite of those that escape your efforts, by screening your houses and beds or bedrooms with fine-meshed veils and nettings. Too large a mesh allows them entrance. Eighteen meshes to the inch keeps them cut.

For use on the hands and face, spirits of camphor, pine oil, oil of citronella, and oil of pennyroyal are favorites, and will last for several hours.

Guide to Charm

A Slow Tan Is Best for Most People

By JACQUELINE HUNT

MID-JULY usually brings forth a new crop of summer vacationists, all eager for the sun and waves and apt to throw discretion to the four winds for a few weeks of freedom. You hurriedly pack your things with visions of the golden, glamorous cream that you will be when you return to your desk, rested, bright-eyed and slim.

Will your vacation do such thrilling things for you? It all depends on you. It is nearly impossible, for instance, to get a deep, but painless, suntan in two weeks. If your vacation is short, you will be wiser to deck yourself out in the new suntan makeup that is lovely on the tennis court, but can be removed when you want to look romantic and feminine in your organic dance frock.

If you do tan nicely, however, take it as gradually as possible. Avoid the midday sun. Use the early morning and afternoon sun and use plenty of suntan oil.

Any kind of oil will do.

Some like plain olive oil.

Coconut oil will give others that beautifully toasted look.

More sensitive skinned girls usually prefer the tinted suntan oils that screen out most of the burning rays of the sun.

If you miscalculate your time and get a burn, soak the area with oil or use soothing wet dressing of ice water and witch hazel.

For a really serious burn consult a doctor.

The same applies to a case of poison ivy. Avoid it if possible by wearing gloves when you climb mountains or wander in the woods. If you do come in contact with poison ivy, scour your hands immediately in laundry soap and warm rinse and apply alcohol.蔡明珍, 唐山, 河北省, 中国。

Water dressings of salt water or a wash of potassium permanganate will sometimes dry up the little blisters. But do not take chances with a bad case. See a doctor as soon as possible.

You see there are many things that can happen on vacations, you need an emergency kit just as surely as you need a beauty kit. Be sure to take along a small bottle of alcohol to use as an antiseptic. It is good for bites, stings, pimples, mosquito bites or small skin injuries. A cake of hard water soap is always a safe to take along, wash or a big bottle of boric acid solution and use them daily. Get a pair of tinted glasses, too, to protect your eyes from the wind and sun.

For a more compete list of vacation necessities, see tomorrow's column.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "For the last few years I have had a noticeable rash on my face and arms. Many people have asked questions about it. It itches and the skin flakes. Also, I acquire a smooth coat of tan only to have it marred by the appearance of this rash. Will you tell me what it is and how to get rid of it?" —L.M.

There are many types of skin diseases that have the symptoms and appearance of a rash. The wisest thing would be for you to consult a doctor and find out definitely what it is and what causes it. It is quite possible that your body is sensitive to certain foods or plants and the rash appears only when you have been exposed to the substance to which you are sensitive. Strawberries will cause a rash in some people. Refined wheat bread causes trouble for others. If this rash is sensitive to some substance your doctor should try to find out what it is so you can avoid it in the future. If the rash is a skin disease, then a calamine lotion or some simple ointment may be necessary to treat the matter with light-hearted informality.

QUESTION: "What do you think of lipstick? Must one use it to look neat and well groomed? I really do not like to use it, as it makes my mouth look larger still my lips are pale and need some touching up." —Dol."

Why not just that, "touch them up"? Lipstick that is properly used will not make your mouth look large or vulgar. Use a rather soft orange-red shade or rose depending on your coloring and apply it in a small amount of the paste toward the center of your lips and use the natural lines. Blend the color with your fingers, moisten your lips with your tongue and there you are!

Ramos Executed
For Girl Murder

SAN QUENTIN, Aug. 16.—UP—

Augustine Ramos, 31, was hanged at San Quentin prison today for the murder of Carmen de la Pena, 17, radio entertainer who spurned his advances.

The slaying occurred in Monterey County, May 6, 1934. Ramos was found guilty June 30. He was sentenced to hang. An appeal to the State Supreme Court delayed execution.

Ramos, a Filipino, shot the girl three times. He attempted to shoot himself, but the weapon jammed. He then tried suicide by slashing himself with a penknife but inflicted only superficial wounds.

Ramos spent last night quietly. Even as he walked up the gallows steps today, accompanied by the Rev. H. H. Menzel, the condemned slayer did not lose his imperturbable calm.

Clipper Ship
Makes Landing
At Wake Island

WAKE ISLANDS, Aug. 16.—UP—

Pan-American Airways' Clipper plane glided to a landing on the shallow lagoon of this formerly uninhabited atoll at 5:29 p.m. PDT, to advance by 300 miles to China air route.

The Clipper, first plane ever to fly the 1,290-mile stretch between Midway Islands, 1,500 miles northwest of Honolulu, and Wake, required eight hours and eight minutes for the trip.

Powerful radio directional beams from Honolulu, Midway and this station checked the four-motor plane every mile of the course, aiding her in a difficult bit of navigation that would have been all but impossible even five years ago.

Wake, composed of three tiny islets, is relatively no larger than a pin-point on a sheet of paper a hundred miles square.

The Clipper, en route to scheduled arrival at 12:15 a.m. PDT, breaking through a low bank of clouds in a direct line with a radio crushed. Post's body was crushed and all legs and arms were broken. Both bodies had been submerged.

TAKEN BY PLANE

The bodies may be taken out by airplane within a day or so, clearing weather indicated.

Post and Rogers died at 8:18 p. m. Thursday when the low-winged Lockheed Orion plane fell 15 miles from Point Barrow.

The record-smashing aviator and the No. 1 air passenger were flying from Fairbanks to Barrow, part of a leisurely tour of Alaska. Engine trouble and a dense fog forced a landing at the tiny village of Walkup.

REPAIRED MOTOR

Post repaired the motor. While waiting for the fog to lift they ate dinner with Eskimos. The pontoon-equipped streamlined plane rose gracefully from the small river, but failed to gain altitude.

The motor sputtered and died. Natives said the plane fell from a height of about 50 feet onto the tundra at the stream's edge.

Frozen hummocks of moss rippled at the fuselage and wings. Both wings snapped off. The engine smashed back into the forward cockpit where Post sat at the controls, hurling the one-eyed aviator's mangled body back into the cabin.

INSTANT DEATH

As the plane ground-looped and nosed over on its back, Rogers was hurled out of the cabin.

Death came almost instantly to both.

Natives on the opposite shore of the stream saw a burst of flame from the wreckage which they believed was an explosion. Gasoline from the punctured fuel tank had caught fire as it spread over the river surface. Fire blazed for a few moments, then died. There was no evidence of an explosion.

NEWS BY RUNNER

A frightened native runner brought the news to Point Barrow. Sergeant Stanley Morgan of the U. S. Signal Corps and United Press correspondent Frank Daugherty commanded a motor-driven whale boat manned by natives.

When they reached the isolated river, the wreckage had slipped down into the crushed hummocks of moss and the crew worked in

Solons Tell Grief

DAUGHTER'S PICTURE
The bodies were placed in a skin kayak, or native boat, which was towed behind the whoboot to Point Barrow. As natives were lifting the bodies to the beach, an ink-stained newspaper picture fell from Rogers' pocket. It was water-soaked rotogravure of his daughter, Mary.

The natives and two white men were hampered by a murky fog in removing the bodies from the wreckage. A flashlight found in the cabin threw a dim light on the scene.

Many books and wet papers were found. They included Russian dictionaries and translations Post had intended using on a flight to Siberia.

Both bodies were clad in light sports clothes, with rubber boots. Clothing and personal effects were dried carefully at the mission hospital.

Eskimos said that when the plane fell and fire surged up from the engine, and weather forecaster on the river, many of the tribesmen covered their faces with their hands. A large herd of reindeer browsing on the river bank ran away in fright.

MESSAGE RECEIVED
News of the crash was received by the White House in a message from Staff Sgt. Sam L. Evans, R. Moran, operator of the signal corps station at Point Barrow, who also acts as postmaster, news reporter, meteorologist and weather forecaster to the community at the top of the world.

At Hyde Park, N. Y., President Roosevelt voiced the nation's dole and his personal grief.

"I was shocked to hear of the news which has taken Will Rogers and Wiley Post from us," he said. "Will was an old friend of mine, a humorist and philosopher loved by all. I had the pleasure of greeting Mr. Post on his return from his round-the-world flight. He leaves behind a splendid contribution to the science of aviation. Both were outstanding Americans and will be greatly missed."

LAUDS ROGERS

In the Senate Minority Leader Joe T. Robinson delivered a quiet, post-intuitively, was visibly affected.

"Probably the most widely known citizen of the United States, and to the actor that has seldom been equalled."

Rogers and Post left Union Air Terminal here August 5, bound supposedly for Seattle, Alaska, and Siberia in Post's new red Lockheed monoplane. Mystery surrounded their flight — only a week before they had been "lost" in New Mexico, and showed up grinning broadly, explaining they had "gone fishing."

Post's wife accompanied them as far as Seattle, then "kidded" him into turning back to Ponca City, Okla. Mrs. Rogers and Will's daughter, Mary, left for Lakewood, Colo.

STONE STRICKEN

His eldest son, Will Rogers Jr., 20 year old polo-playing companion of the actor, was working on an oil tanker, docked at San Pedro when friends told him of his father's death.

Fred Stone, New York song and dance man for whom Rogers rushed across the country eight years ago and filled in on a Broadway show when Stone was injured, was so shocked with grief he could hardly speak.

Scene Of Death

FAMILIES ARE PREPARING FOR LAST SERVICES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 16—UP—Mrs. Wiley Post, who turned back from the Alaskan flight which cost the lives of her husband and Will Rogers joined Post's family today to make arrangements for return of his body.

She flew here with L. E. Gray, Ponca City friend, to meet Goran Post, the flier's brother and was taken by automobile to a residence where Post's parents live.

Post's elderly parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Post, learned of the tragedy from neighbors. Grief-stricken, they went into seclusion at the home of a neighbor, Miss C. L. Woodward.

The flier, who once used physical punishment to dissuade Wiley from flying, later became reconciled to his son's hazardous occupation and took quiet interest in his accomplishments.

The elderly couple sought to comfort each other.

STRIKES FAMILY LEAVES
LAKEWOOD, Me., Aug. 16—UP—Mrs. Will Rogers and her pretty actress-daughter, Mary, motored to Waterville tonight to end train on the "Downeaster."

Certainly the most beloved, met life some hours ago in a lonely and faraway place," he said.

"We pause for a moment in the midst of our duties to pay tribute to his memory and that of his gallant companion. I do not think of Will Rogers as dead. I shall remember him always as a sensible, courageous, loyal friend possessed of unusual and notable talents."

"He made fun for all mankind. In nothing that he ever said was there an unintended stink."

CREVEST SON

In the House, Senator Joseph W. Bailey, said he had a premonition that Rogers would be killed.

"I told my wife he shouldn't go in such a flight," Evans recalled.

The humorist's namesake, Representative Will Rogers, Democrat of Oklahoma, said he considered that "OKlahoman just left. He created on former Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, an Oklahoman, proposed that Rogers be given one of the two places allotted to that state in the Congressional Hall of Fame.

By pure coincidence, when the Senate convened to work after its adjournment, it found set on the calendar the bill of Senator Elmer Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, calling for purchase of Post's round-the-world plane, Winnie Mae, for exhibition at the Smithsonian Institute. The bill was passed.

HOME CITIES TO PAY HONOR TO FAMED PAIR

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 16—UP—The lone folks of the Southwest today mourned the death of Will Rogers and Wiley Post who never outriveted being old-time friends and neighbors.

Rogers who had a strain of Cherokee blood was considered the "Cherokee Ambassador to the world" by tribesmen.

POST HONORED

At Oklahoma City, hundreds of persons visited the three institutions which will bear Post's name as a memorial. The Wiley Post Aircraft Corporation, the Wiley Post Airport and the Wiley Post Municipal Park were named in his honor.

Post was president of the aircraft company.

Flags were flown at half staff in Tulsa and half a dozen other Oklahoma and Texas cities. The action was spontaneous.

LEARNED TO FLY

At Ardmore, Okla., Arthur Alkey, who taught Post to fly, was shocked.

"Post learned to fly in exactly one hour and 45 minutes of instruction.

Then he made his first solo flight. He was the best student pilot I ever had," he said.

The one-eyed flier was a cautious pilot, Ogle said. Post did not indulge in stunt flying and took no unnecessary risks.
